1. Introduction

Websites of state institutions are the government's face in the digital space. For an increasing portion of the population of Sri Lanka, the website of a ministry or department is the front door to the state: the place to find a form, a circular, a contact point, or a decision that affects their lives. This report is a citizen-driven effort by volunteers who reviewed 577 websites across ministries, departments, statutory bodies, public corporations, independent commissions, the judiciary and Parliament in September 2026, to arrive at an initial assessment of how they align with accessibility, security and inclusion.

Sri Lanka has long sought to use digital technology to transform governance. For more than two decades, successive governments have worked to bring public services, information and administration online to serve citizens better, with varying degrees of success. The present government has placed digital transformation at the centre of its development agenda, with a stated commitment to deliver public services that are faster, more transparent and accessible to all. This policy direction is reflected in the creation of a dedicated Ministry of Digital Economy and in reforms to the institutional landscape of digital governance.

Digitalisation is not only about efficiency. An accessible, secure and current website is a tool of accountability. When timely information is published openly and inclusively, and in formats people can use, citizens, journalists, researchers and legislators can follow what public institutions do and hold them to account. This reflects the spirit of the Right to Information Act No. 12 of 2016, which treats proactive disclosure as a public duty. Openness of data and information is a foundation for public trust.

Digitalisation must also be inclusive. Chapter IV of the Constitution recognises Sinhala and Tamil as official languages and English as the link language, and entitles people to communicate and transact business with public institutions in these languages. A website available in only one language excludes large sections of the public and falls short of these constitutional commitments. Upholding the official language policy online is not a courtesy but an obligation, and a practical test of whether digital government serves all Sri Lankans equally.

In 2022, ICTA published guidelines for developing and maintaining Sri Lanka government websites, and this scorecard draws on them. In this first iteration we deliberately use a simple set of baseline criteria: whether a site is accessible, whether it has a valid SSL certificate, whether it offers content in all three languages, and whether it uses the official gov.lk domain and consistent official email addresses. These criteria do not measure overall website quality. They measure the minimum standards that help the government achieve its own policy objectives. This is a beginning, and in future iterations we plan to broaden the categories assessed, for example to usability, accessibility for persons with disabilities, performance and the availability of open data.

We offer it in a constructive spirit, as a resource for public officers and policymakers alike. We welcome feedback, corrections and collaborators who wish to help strengthen this work in the years ahead.

Team Lanka Data Foundation

2. Methodology

This website scorecard evaluates and scores official government websites for the following bodies:

- President's office and other Ministries
- Government Departments
- Statutory Institutions
- Public Corporations
- Independent Commissions
- Diplomatic missions overseas
- Other Public Facing Bodies in the Public Sector (e.g., public banks, hospitals)
- Judiciary (Only the supreme court and court of appeal)
- Parliament & Ombudsman

*In this iteration sub-national institutions at the Provincial, District, Divisional, or Local Government levels were not audited.

Scoring Criteria

Websites were evaluated against a fixed set of baseline criteria representing minimum standards required for official government websites. This includes site accessibility, SSL certificate validity, language translation, and domain/contact details.

Important factors such as performance and usability were not evaluated. Therefore, this assessment should not be taken as a comprehensive overall website score, but rather as a measure of adherence to essential baseline standards.

Scoring criteria were primarily developed with reference to the Information and Communication Technology Agency \(ICTA\) guidelines for developing Sri Lanka Government Websites.

To see the scoring guidelines used, refer to the Scoring Guidelines.

Data Collection

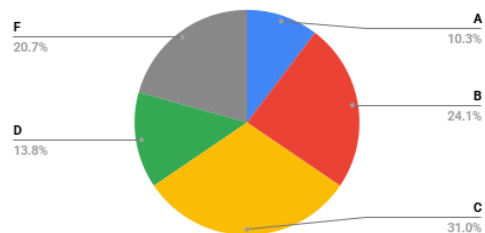

This data was collected at the “Government Website Scorecard Digital Audit” event held by Lanka Data Foundation on 5th September 2026. During this event, a group of 24 volunteers evaluated 577 government websites against a set of criteria. This data was then cleaned and processed to produce the final Website Scorecard you see here.

Disclaimers

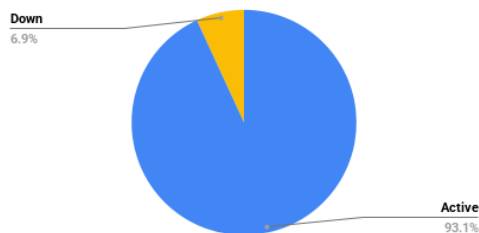

- The results in this report reflect the state of live systems as of September 5, 2026. Because these are active websites, changes may occur after this date.
- The collection of this data was a collaborative citizen-led initiative. While every effort was taken to ensure high accuracy, minor inaccuracies may be present. If you find any discrepancies, please reach out to us at contact@datafoundation.lk.
- In cases where official guidelines were absent or unclear, reasonable assumptions were made during the scoring process, these assumptions have been explicitly stated in the scoring guidelines.

Appendix

Scoring Guidelines

Overview

The total score for each website is a sum out of 100 scored across the following 4 categories.

Category	Maximum Points
1. Site Accessibility	Gate. No points allocated.
2. SSL Status	25
3. Language Accessibility and Translation	40
4. Domain and Official Contact Compliance	35
Total	100

For total scores, the following letter grades were used:

Grade	Score range
A	85-100
B	70-84
C	60-69
D	50-59
F	0-49

Criteria

1. Site Accessibility

This criterion checks if the website actually loads for a user. A website fails this criterion if it either does not load at all or redirects to an external site unrelated to the institution; in such cases, the site is disqualified and receives a final score of 0.

Category	Points Awarded
Active or Redirects to Valid Site	Only these sites qualify
Down or Redirects to Invalid Site	Disqualified

2. SSL Status

This criterion checks the existence and validity of an SSL certificate.

Outcome	Points Awarded
Valid	25
Expired/ Invalid	5
Missing	0

3. Language Accessibility and Translation

This criteria checks both whether a website has been translated into its required languages and how easily those translations can be accessed via a language switcher.

3.1 Language switcher

This criterion checks if a language switcher is present, a language switcher is simply a toggle that allows a user to easily switch between languages.

Outcome	Points Awarded
Present	5
Absent	0

3.2 Trilingual coverage across webpages

Points are assigned based on the number of translated pages found in each language (out of a maximum of 5). Wherever possible, the evaluation checks the same five core pages for consistency across each website. These core pages were:

- Home
- About Us
- Services
- Contact
- RTI
- Announcements / News

Language	Points Range
English	0-5
Sinhala	0-5
Tamil	0-5

3.3 Translation Type

This criterion checks the method in which content is translated on the website. Content can be translated in one of two ways:

- Static Translation: Content is manually translated and verified, ensuring that the same translation is loaded and used on every visit.
- Dynamic Translation: Content is translated in real-time using third-party services (like Google Translate). This is often less accurate than manual translation.

Outcome	Points Awarded
Static (Manual)	20
Dynamic (Automatic)	10
No Translation	0

4. Domain Hosting Compliance

4.1 Domain Compliant

This criterion checks whether the domain used by the institution complies with official requirements. In most cases, compliance for government institutions means utilizing the “.gov.lk” domain extension. However, exceptions were made for certain institution types (see the note below).

Outcome	Points Awarded
Yes	25
No	0

 Note: While standard practice dictates that government institutions utilize the .gov.lk domain extension, ambiguity in official guidelines required the following assumptions for this audit:*

- Defence sector websites (eg defence.lk, army.lk): The policy for this is unclear. However, given that defense websites globally often operate outside standard government subdomains, these were not marked as violations for lacking a .gov.lk extension.
- Universities and institutes: Academic institutions maintaining either .ac.lk or .edu.lk domains were considered fully compliant.
- Research Institutions: While research institutes under ministries ideally should hold .gov.lk addresses, many currently use standard .lk domains (e.g., ips.lk, slf.lk). Due to a lack of explicit policy clarity, these were exempted from penalties in this iteration.

- SOEs, Corporations, Boards, State-owned companies: These were considered as not strictly required to hold .gov.lk addresses.
- Authorities, Councils, and Commissions: Regulatory authorities, councils, and commissions were evaluated as requiring .gov.lk domains.

4.2 Email and Official Domain Consistency

This criterion checks whether the contact email provided matches or aligns with the institution's official web domain. For example, if a website's domain is health.gov.lk, a matching contact email would be info@health.gov.lk. This ensures that the institution's mail server is established on its own official domain rather than relying on generic addresses or external providers.

Outcome	Points Awarded
Yes (Email matches official domain)	10
Partial (Mix of domain and external emails (e.g., Gmail))	5
No (All external emails or none provided)	0
